NA64: Lanolin alcohol
CAS#: 8006-54-0

Patient Information
Your patch test result indicates that you have a contact allergy to lanolin alcohol. This contact allergy may cause your skin to react when it is exposed to this substance although it may take several days for the symptoms to appear. Typical symptoms include redness, swelling, itching and fluid-filled blisters.

Where is lanolin alcohol found?
Lanolin is a natural product obtained from the fleece of sheep and is commonly used in cosmetics and topical medications, such as creams, ointments, and emulsions. It is also used in insect repellent sprays, hair sprays, coatings for condoms, protective creams, shaving creams, sunscreen preparations, dishwashing soaps, furniture polishes, cable insulation, ski waxes, water-proofing products for leather, and shoe polishes. It may also be used as a component of printing inks, drilling oils, cutting oils, and anti-rust coatings.

How can you avoid contact with lanolin alcohol?
Avoid products that list any of the following names in the ingredients:
- Alkoholes lanae
- EINECS 232-430-1
- Lanae alcohols
- Lanolin alcohol
- Lanolin alcohols
- Wool alcohols
